My parents came to Spain as workers (my father as a builder and my mother as a seamstress). First they moved to Barcelona, Spain, and they are still living here. I also live here now. My father started working as a builder for a private company. My mother started working as a seamstress for a clothes company called Mango. They still work here.

I was born on 20.01.2000 in Bucharest, Romania. I think I´m really lucky to live here because here I have a better life. Spain is like my second home even if my best friends are in Romania.
